MY NAME IS JASON. By day I'm a banker and by night I love being a father. Now more than ever I want to be a part of creating a healthier community, especially for children. That's why I've been a loyal contributor to the United Way campaign for more than 10 years. The new local initiatives focused on early learning and parental involvement impress me. I feel confident sharing my time and hard-earned dollars with an organization that works on issues I care about, advancing the common good for families right here in Waukesha County. Every year I give to United Way through my workplace campaign... that's "how I LIVE UNITED."
